Background -

Nearly seventy-five percent of West Virginia Baptist Convention churches are served by bi-vocational pastors. For a variety of reasons, many of these pastors have not had the opportunity to seek more traditional training. This school is not to be considered a substitute for traditional training, but rather an alternative training program.

The West Virginia Baptist Convention has accepted its responsibility for the training of pastors, throughout most of its history. For more than one hundred years, the West Virginia Baptist Education Society has provided financial aid to ministerial students pursuing college and seminary education.

Since 1952, the convention has had a number of training programs for those pastoring our smaller churches. The American Baptist Men of West Virginia introduced a Lay Preacher Program in 1967.

On October 19, 1993, the Executive Board approved the founding of the School of Christian Studies, to bring together Church Leader Clinics (a classroom program), Study Course Program (a tutorial program) and the Lay Preacher Program.

In January 2002, the certificate in Children's Ministry and certificate in Youth Ministry were added to the curriculum.

The School of Christian Studies is designed to meet the practical needs of any person interested in expanding their spiritual maturity, biblical knowledge and ministry skills. While the school carries no college or seminary credit, it does provide creditable and recognizable training within the Convention family.

Six Tracks of Study -

The basic program of study is the diploma in Pastoral Ministry. The other five areas, certificate in Lay Ministry, Teaching certificate, certificate in Children's Ministry, certificate in Youth Ministry and certificate in General Studies are developed out of the basic program, but require a different number of courses. All six programs are part of the three-year cycle of courses. The diploma in Pastoral Ministry requires 204 hours of classroom study. The certificate in Lay Ministry requires 168 hours of classroom study. The Teaching certificate requires 142 hours of classroom study. The certificate in Children's Ministry requires 162 hours of classroom study and the certificate in Youth Ministry requires 162 hours of classroom study. The certificate in General Studies 130 hours of studies from courses already offered with an option to apply such studies, events or other special training events offered by the convention and accepted by the School of Christian Studies. General Studies is for those who do not wish to choose a more specialized area of study.

Some course work will be interchangeable between the six tracks of study.

Any student who desires, may enroll in classes outside their area of study, however, these cannot be substituted for their area courses.

Recognition -

The School of Christian Studies has been approved by the Executive Board of the West Virginia Baptist Convention. The Committee on Ministerial Standing has endorsed the Diploma in Pastoral Ministry as fulfilling the minimum education requirements for state accreditation of ordination. The American Baptist Men of West Virginia also honor the Certificate in Lay Ministry as fulfilling educational requirements in their Lay Preacher Program.

Student costs are the same as regular for credit fee, plus the cost of the book, if needed. You may purchase the book from us, buy one on your own or borrow one from your tutor. There is also a tutoring fee, which is compensation for your instructor, since an honorarium is not provided in this situation. The fee you decide on is between you and your tutor. The School of Christian Studies is not involved in that decision. Tutors must fit certain criteria. They should have: 1.) a professional degree from a nationally accredited school (college or university level), 2.) be an active supporter of the West Virginia Baptist Convention, 3.) if ordained, be recognized by the West Virginia Baptist Convention, 4.) have experience in the pastoral or teaching disciplines, 5.) be a graduate of the School of Christian Studies and have extensive pastoral experience and 6.) have received a seminary degree from a recognized seminary. Tutorial Study is not an option except for unusual situations. Tutorial Studies must be approved by the Advisory Committee. Please contact the School of Christian Studies (Donna at 800.879.9822 or snyder@wvbc.org) for more information on tutoring.

Some courses are available as a correspondence course. For these courses, you are not required to meet with a tutor. The assignment will be sent to you and you are to complete it and send it back to the Parkersburg office. It will be graded by the School of Christian Studies' director and a pass or fail will be given.

Core and Regular courses cannot be used for elective or module credit.

Transfer of Credit -

The transfer of credit from other learning experiences, I.E., college, Bible institute and seminary, may be granted, when there is a correlation with Core, Regular, Module and Elective courses offered by the School of Christian Studies and completed in a classroom of an educational institution. No credit will be given for life experience.

Scheduling of Courses

The scheduling of courses will be based upon the sixteen courses in the Diploma in Pastoral Ministry track over a three-year period. Then the cycle will repeat itself. If a student misses a course when offered, it will not be available again for three years. The complete schedule of courses is located in the back of this catalog.

Students may enter the School of Christian Studies at the start of any class. However, it is suggested that you make application prior to that first class or as soon as possible after your first class begins.

Auditing/ No Credit Needed -

If you wish to take a School of Christian Studies class and do not want to receive credit for it, you may audit the class at a reduced rate. One-day classes may be audited for $25.00 and six-week classes for $30.00. Auditors are not required to complete assignments, purchase textbooks and do not receive credit. If you wish to purchase a textbook, it will be at the regular cost. Instructors will be notified of your intent to audit and will mark the Course Report Form with "Aud." and no record will be kept.

If the student decides later to enroll in the School of Christian Studies, they will need to repeat all courses they have audited (AT THE FULL PRICE).

Textbooks -

It shall be the responsibility of the Advisory Committee to select textbooks. Only approved texts may be used for the courses. Suggested reading material for outside assignments may be made by the instructor, but these books are not part of the curriculum and the student is not required to purchase them.

The School of Christian Studies will make the necessary textbooks available to the students. Reading assignments will come with the textbook, therefore, it will be necessary to register early enough to receive the book in the mail and read the assignment prior to the first class. Books will not be available at the class locations for purchase. They are only available at the Parkersburg office.

Grading -

The student will be graded "outstanding," "satisfactory" or "unsatisfactory" for core and regular courses, based upon the following criteria:

1. Class attendance and participation. Absence up to three hours may be made up by outside work at the discretion of the instructor. Absence in excess of three class hours will result in a failing grade.
2. Reading of the textbook and completion of class assignments given by the instructor.
3. Payment of all required fees.

The instructor may grant an "incomplete" when any of the above criteria, except absences, have not been fulfilled by the end of the course. The student then will have three (3) months, from the last class, to satisfactorily complete the work and receive a passing grade. Consult the director for details.

The student will be graded “outstanding,” “satisfactory” or “unsatisfactory” for module and elective courses, based upon the following criteria:

1.) Class attendance and participation. Students must attend entire class and complete any work as given by the instructor.

2.) Completion of assignment, if given.

3.) Payment of all required fees.

Transcript -

A transcript will be mailed annually (in the month of November) after the last class of the year to each student who has successfully completed courses for credit during the year. These transcripts should be retained as validation of course completion.

Instructors and Tutors -

Instructors are selected and approved by the School of Christian Studies Executive Committee. These individuals will need to exhibit competence in the field in which they are teaching, as well as having good teaching skills. Whenever tutors are necessary, they will be assigned by the Dean. Students will be responsible for making scheduled meetings with the tutors.

Students utilizing tutors must pay the cost of the course, plus tutoring fee.

School of Christian Studies Youth and Children's Ministry Programs are Back on the Schedule!

The School of Christian Studies is happy to announce our Youth and Children's Ministry programs are up and running again, with a newly revised schedule. Our Youth and Children's programs will no longer offer the six elective and six module course portion of the program. Instead, the School of Christian Studies, in cooperation with Discipleship Ministries and Global Youth Ministries, will offer a three-year cycle of one six-week class to be completed each year. The first cycle will run from 2010-2012. The completion of these classes will replace Youth and Children's elective and module classes previously offered by the School of Christian Studies. Students must attend both classes each year for full credit. Each yearly six-week and one-day class will replace: four module classes (any two from the youth program and the corresponding two from the children's program) and two elective classes (any one from the youth program and the corresponding one from the children's program). Please see below for the exact classes that will be replaced. After completing the three-year cycle, students will have received credit for all Youth and Children's elective and module classes. After the three-year cycle is completed, it will begin again, just as the Pastoral, Lay, Teaching and General Studies programs do. Please note: the requirements for the Youth and Children's Ministry Programs require additional classes to be completed to receive the certificate in either of these programs. (Please see the School of Christian Studies' catalog for this information.)

If you are interested in the Youth or Children's Ministry program or any of our other School of Christian Studies' ministry programs, please contact Donna at snyder@wvbc.org or 800.879.9822 for an information packet or visit www.wvbc.org and click on the School of Christian Studies' link.

2012 UPDATE: Classes for the Youth and Children's program will be scheduled as sufficient numbers of students are willing to commit to attend and complete the classes. It is not good stewardship of instructors' time and financial resources to schedule the class without sufficient commitment from students. If you need the Youth and Children's Level One or Level Two courses to complete requirements for graduation, we will arrange tutoring/individual study options. We are sorry for any inconvenience this may cause, and we would like to thank for your patience. Please let us know how we may best serve you.
