

Weirton Christian Center Kicks Off Its BUILD-A-BUILDING PROJECT

by Kim Weaver
 director, Weirton Christian Center

Weirton Christian Center recently celebrated its 98th anniversary by having an alumni reunion for all those who grew up at the center. It was a time to reunite with old friends and look through hundreds of pictures. It went so well, we are planning for another event next year. By our 100th anniversary, our plan is to compile all the alumni's stories into a book about the history of the center, and we hope to kick off our second centennial in a new facility.

At the 2015 West Virginia Baptist Convention Annual Meeting it was great to see many of our Baptist friends. It was exciting to be able to announce the kickoff of the BUILD-A-BUILDING PROJECT. God has been moving and orchestrating things so we are closer than ever to providing a safe and secure facility under one roof for all our children.

Our children are at risk. I recently learned the state of West Virginia has had 60,000 drug overdoses and there are only 750 beds for treatment. Our area is leading those numbers. Actually, the drug problem is not limited to our downtown area, incomes or status of any kind. It is everywhere. However, our neighborhood is a low-income, rental property area that seems to have a higher crime rate. Our children are living in homes where drugs may be the everyday experience, and if they aren't in the same house, it seems every family is affected.

In order to keep our children safe in a facility that has a security system for coming and going, we need this construction to happen. Currently, there are ten doors and four buildings - nine areas, and we are going into the new year with 100 children in the afterschool program and 26 in the preschool program. Our new facility design will allow for kindergarten through sixth grade on one floor and seventh through twelfth grade on the other. This will create a manageable operation pattern with a safe and secure system.

This BUILD-A-BUILDING PROJECT is being supported by a 40% donor contribution of up to $300,000, if the other 60% is raised. We also have a local foundation willing to make a major contribution to the project. And with the decision of the West Virginia Baptist Convention Executive Board to allow us to ask for church support totaling $150,000, we are hoping to be able to break ground by spring. Of course, we are also working on other grants and our community partners as well, but our Baptist family is crucial to the success of this venture. We need the financial support of your churches, but we also count on you for your prayers for this ministry. As I always say, we could not do what we do without our Baptist family. We hope your church will be able to make a onetime contribution to the BUILD-A-BUILDING PROJECT as you continue to support us with your mission budgets, special offerings, quarters' collections and all the other things you do for us. Please designate your donations when they are made. Besides the regular donations, we are also selling donor bricks that may be used to honor or memorialize someone - $75 each or two for $100.

Our website has been revamped, and we can now take online donations. You may also order bricks online. Our larger donors will be designated on a wall in the center with engraved tiles, based on the level of sponsorship. Please earmark donations to the BUILD-A-BUILDING PROJECT, whether sent to the center or through West Virginia Baptist Convention. Thank you in advance for your support.

The Watchman Legacy

The purpose of a watchman is to be aware of the world around him. As the good folks sleep in the city, the watchman is awake and aware. He is the guard or sentinel on the wall and in the tower. The watchman is one who sounds the alarm when danger approaches or occurs. The Bible addresses the watchman job with 51 verses of scripture. Ezekiel and Isaiah speak directly to the job description of the watchman, emphasizing the fact that the watchman was appointed and very honored in those cultures. He had two responsibilities ... to observe and to sound the alarm.

Dr. David Carrico

In more modern times, the concept of the watchman has included all kinds of dangers, not only physical invaders, but anything perceived as a threat. The legacy of pastors and churches has been to "call them as we see them" in a situation, to call out the danger to society, whatever it may be. In some situations, the concept of watchman includes the role of prophet, announcing the end times. As we look at scriptures, we must never take the text out of the context. The watchman speaks to the present situation, the word of God now and forever. While we as watchmen are to sound the alarm, we must not become alarmists. There are those who needlessly and habitually sound alarms. As watchmen, we are to be wise and observant and to sound the alarm clearly and loudly at the appropriate times.

We have just celebrated the 150th anniversary of our West Virginia Baptist Convention. We stressed our legacy, not only from a historical point of view, but from a future-casting desire as well. The worship, speakers and workshops all pointed to new appreciation of the future of our ministry and mission and creating a legacy of being the people of God and serving to advance the kingdom. As we celebrated together, we acknowledged ministry is hard work. We became aware of how important our ministry is to people who are hurting today. Individuals, couples, families and churches are under incredible stress and the evil one is busy blinding and binding the hearts and minds of many good folks. Our churches and her leaders need to be encouraged as they minister to their congregations. As we face an ever-changing and complex world, the need for God-fearing believers who will be watchmen is greater than ever before. As we stand on the edge of a new year and prepare to celebrate the holidays, we have a grand opportunity to be the watchmen, looking around us to make a difference both outside and inside our communities of faith. A watchman has to have this gift of situational awareness to see the people who could cause hardship to the community. We must call attention to the situation and destroy the threat. Changing the situation is one of the responsibilities of the watchman, and as the church, we can impact those situations with the saving love of Jesus Christ. The heart of missions is changing the hearts of the creatures to reflect the love of the Creator. This holiday season, be a watchman, celebrating what God has done with great thanksgiving and pointing to the Advent event of His ongoing revelation of Himself through the incarnation of our Lord. Be a watchman. Tell those looking for hope in some very hopeless situations about Jesus.

Hispanic Ministries: Building Bridges to Share God's Love - Construyendo puentes para compartir el amor de Dios

In a recent road trip, my wife and I had the opportunity to travel across the George Washington Bridge (GWB) in New York City. As we drove over the bridge, I was fascinated not only by the stunning view of the Hudson River, but also by the bridge itself. It is impressive. The GWB is an imposing double-decked bridge with 14 lanes extending almost 1.5 miles over the Hudson River to connect New York City to Fort Lee, New Jersey. Since 1931, the GWB has rendered an extraordinary service helping to connect the millions of people traversing over it. Every year over 106 million vehicles travel through it making it the busiest motor vehicle bridge in the world. A bridge's purpose is to span over a gap to make a physical connection between two things.

The times and culture we live in require our commitment to be bridge builders to share God's love. We need followers of Jesus who are intentional about making real and meaningful connections with people from different languages, beliefs, values, behaviors, customs and attitudes. God is the Master Bridge Builder. Because of His unfailing love and grace, God sent His Son to die for us, and in doing so He bridged the gap separating us from Him (John 3:16). As the Father, Jesus was a Master Bridge Builder. He invested lots of time building relationships. He overcame ethnic, social, gender, cultural, political and religious barriers separating us from each other and from God (Galatians 3:28). He connected to and transformed the lives of the unwanted of His time: lepers, prostitutes and tax collectors.

To share God's love with people from Spanish speaking cultures, and even with those from other cultures, building real and meaningful relationships will help you overcome the following obstacles:

1. LANGUAGE OBSTACLE:

"No hablo Español." How could I share the gospel?

This is the most common obstacle, but you can overcome it by learning Spanish! Learn a few basic Spanish phrases to connect with Spanish speakers. You could even start a basic English as Second Language (ESL) class and as you teach English ask them to teach you Spanish.

2. CULTURAL OBSTACLE:

"What could we have in common, besides enjoying some good ethnic or Mexican food?"

We are drawn to those who demonstrate genuine love, respect and interest in us. At times people from other cultures face discrimination and feel alone. You can make a difference in their lives by learning about their culture. Always be sincere! Ask questions about their countries, their hopes and challenges. Your interest will make them feel welcomed, accepted and cared for. This may be the bridge the Lord uses for you to share the gospel.

3. SOCIOECONOMIC OBSTACLE:

"They won't feel comfortable in our church."

Hispanic immigrants are hardworking people. Most left their countries because they long for a better tomorrow. Some may not speak English or have the same education you do, but they want to be respected. When you invite them to your church, treat them with dignity and introduce them to your pastor and others in the church. Offer them the hospitality you would offer to Jesus.

4. LEGAL OBSTACLE:

"What if the authorities find out?"

First, remember not all Hispanics are undocumented. Second, to know their legal status should not be your primary concern, establishing a true and sincere relationship, a bridge, to share God's love should be your goal. No matter your views about the immigration issue remember all human beings are created in God's image. Thus, we all must be treated with dignity and respect. Jesus died on the cross for you and them.

I realize building relationships is a time-consuming, messy and risky process. And we neither want to invest the time, nor do we want to go through the perplexing and unpredictable process of relating to people who are different from us. But the more we become like Jesus, the closer we move to God's heart, the closer we will move to other people - particularly those unlike us. Relationships are the bridge God will use for you to share His love not only with Hispanics, but with everyone you encounter.

A Legacy of Mission

Though many of the early Baptists who formed the West Virginia Baptist Convention were opposed to missions, the majority ruled the day and missions became the foundation of Convention life. In October we celebrated 150 years of doing mission together as Baptists of West Virginia.

It is true several of our churches are much older than the Convention, having been organized when this part of the country was still Virginia. It is also true missionaries were being sent out from American Baptists 50 years before the West Virginia Baptist Convention was organized.

The first overseas missionary from West Virginia was sent out in 1888. William Hall served as a missionary in the Democratic Republic of the Congo (Zaire) for 18 years. Hall was the first of at least 50 missionaries we know of that have served God overseas through the American Baptist Foreign Mission Society (ABFMS - International Ministries).

It is clear we have a strong legacy of mission. Men and women have answered God's call and we have supported them with our prayers and with our giving. GOD IS STILL CALLING!

I have had the opportunity to spend significant time with several of our International Ministries' missionaries the past few months. We can be proud of the people God has called to serve overseas. Each one is dedicated to the Lord and to the mission to which he/she has been called. Our missionaries serve selflessly, giving each day of themselves to their work. The work is hard. The ministry is challenging. The sacrifices are real!

Far too often, our missionaries suffer stress due to lagging levels of financial support. Some have had to make emergency appeals to close the funding gap so they could continue serving. Several have taken retirement or changed jobs because the stress of finding support was so great. This should not be!

My prayer is our missionaries never have to worry that we do not adequately support them. As you pray about and adopt your church's budget for 2016, I challenge you to adopt a missionary and add them to your mission giving.

I also challenge you to personally consider a monthly gift to one of our missionaries. If you go to www.internationalministries.org, you can find information about all of our overseas missionaries as well as where they are in their personal support goals. You can also set up your giving through International Ministries if that is more convenient for you.

God is still calling us to go. May we continue our legacy of missions by making sure those who are called are supported by our prayers and our finances.

Adult Discipleship: Powerful Prayer

During 2015, we have been concentrating on facets of spiritual formation for adults based on writings of John R. Throop. In past issues, we have explored reflective reading, active repentance and total stewardship.

Personal, regular, heartfelt prayer is a “must” for those persons seeking to mature in their spiritual formation. It is through honest, open communication with God and attentive listening to God that we are given the power to continue the molding process of Christian spiritual formation. Through prayer we present our whole selves to God, including our bumps, scars, blemishes and handicaps. We are to “come clean” with God and trust He will forgive, assure, encourage and transform us. Through prayer we are readied for service with Him. We receive His grace, mercy, love and direction.

Volumes have been written on prayer, however there is not one method or way to pray. A study of the Lord’s Prayer (Matthew 6:9-13 and Luke 11:2-4) is a good place to begin learning the elements of powerful prayer.

George Buttrick, a well-known writer on the spiritual life and prayer shares the following about prayer:

- We should recognize the sovereignty and holiness of God and His great and genuine love for us.

- We need to deliberately remember and call out His blessings and mercies to us. This is personal and specific.
- Personal and true confession to God is important. This allows inward peace and inward power from the Holy Spirit to inhabit us.
- Intercession is talking to God on behalf of others. True intercession is specific and comes from thinking deeply about those for whom you are praying.
- The above four intervals of prayer should be filled with a time of meditation. This is time when we contemplate, pause and listen. As in any healthy conversation there are times to speak and times to listen deeply.

Huber Hired as Assistant to Student Ministries

PARKERSBURG - The West Virginia Baptist Convention welcomes Jennifer Huber to its support staff as the assistant to student ministries, assisting Rob Ely and youth from seventh grade through college. Jennifer has been acquainted with the student ministries of the Convention most of her life. She was a camper at Camp Cowen, participated in Youth Leader Core (YLC), was a member of the Youth Ministry Planning Team (YMPT), volunteered as a counselor and worked on staff at Camp Cowen. She was the youth leader of her church for two years and one of the leaders of YLC prior to her marriage to Mitch Huber. She attended Muskingum and Liberty Universities. She said, "If you would have told me when I was in YLC in the tenth grade (Rob was her leader) that someday I would be working with him,

Jennifer Huber, assistant to student ministries

I never would have believed it." If you have any questions about youth, Baptist Campus Ministries' events and camping or rentals at Cowen, contact her at jennifer@wvbc.org.

Future Looking Bright for the Sunny Day Leadership and Activities Center

The West Virginia Baptist Camp at Cowen has been training and discipling counselors, students and staff alike as they grow in their walks with God and develop into the people God has called them to be. Plans are being made now to further the camp's resources for training today's youth to become the leaders our nation clearly craves. Camp Cowen leaders have already drawn up conceptual plans for the Sunny Day Leadership and Activities Center. The hope for this new center is to turn the legacy of leaders who have come before us into the foundation on which the upcoming leaders can stand, learn and grow. The desire for this new center is for it to be a versatile facility for the purpose of training up leaders, while also providing a means for students to have a sunny day at Cowen even on the rainiest days. It will function as both an indoor activity area as well as a training center for growing leaders. Your support, both in prayer and funding, is necessary in this new endeavor! Please be in prayer for the continued planning, site work and the finances for this project as well as for the students and adults who will benefit from the use of the building.

Wanda Hartley Butts Receives James Anderson, Sr. Award for Bivocational Ministry

During the October 16, 2015 afternoon session of the 150th West Virginia Baptist Convention Annual Meeting, Wanda Hartley Butts was presented with the James Anderson, Sr. Award for Bivocational Ministry by Jim Anderson, Jr. and Mary Jo Slater. Jim and Mary Jo are the children of the late James Anderson, Sr.

Wanda came to know Jesus Christ in a little country church at the age of sixteen and He has been the major influence on her life since that day. Early on she adopted Proverbs 3:5-6: Trust in the LORD with all thine heart; and lean not unto thine own understanding. In all thy ways acknowledge him, and he shall direct thy paths, as the motivational verse for her life. The Lord proved himself worthy of His trust as she has known the assurance of His guidance during the stages of life that followed.

She worked her way through high school and graduated as Salutatorian from Ripley High School, and also attended Glenville State Collage, but quit before graduating. She was granted a certificate to teach by Jackson County Board of Education and taught in small rural schools there. She married William Butts in 1959 and they had four children: Cynthia Louise, Kathryn Denise, William Nelson II and Susan Vanessa. The family lived on a 188 acre farm called Willanda Farm and raised cattle, hogs and Morgan horses. Her husband also worked at Kaiser Aluminum.

Wanda spent most of her life attending Mill Creek Baptist Church (Good Hope), where she served at various times as a teacher, youth director and church clerk. She is also a poet and an inspirational writer writing under the name Good Words Ministry, and has been published in international periodicals such as Upper Room, Secret Place and Purpose Magazine. Presently, she is working on some devotional and poetry books, a journaling book and an inspirational novel for publication.

She wasn't called into the ministry until 2004 at the age of 64. It was a struggle, but prayer became more of a priority in her life as she sought for and waited for guid- ance from the Lord. Wanda attended the West Virginia Baptist Convention School of Christian Studies and the Advanced program and graduated with a Diploma in Pastoral Ministry. Her pastor, Bob Keen suggested she do a gospel program on the Spencer radio station. Wanda didn't like that idea, but on the way home God reminded her she already had a name for it - Good Words Ministry. A couple days later she went to the radio station praying there would be no time available. There was one 15 minute slot. She knew without doubt she was supposed to take it. Good Words Ministry has been on the air for 11 years.

One day in June of 2010, Wanda received a call from Goose Creek Baptist Church (Harrisville) to come and preach for them. As soon as she saw that little country church she knew that was where God wanted her to minister. She preached there the rest of the summer, but they didn't call her until the following spring. Serving God with the people of Goose Creek proved to be a blessed calling. Like the early church, they cooperate with and love each other and the people in the community around them. One of the deacons told her one day, "We needed you but you needed us." How true his words were. She needed their example and their acceptance, and prays she has given them half as much love and support as they have given her.

Wanda Hartley Butts (c), along with Jim Anderson, Jr. and Mary Jo Slater, Jim's sister.

Preaching the gospel has been pure joy to Wanda. She says the Lord is indeed a very present help in time of need as she feels His presence and influence every moment as she studies His Word to prepare messages. It is by the Lord's empowerment she can look toward to the future with the hope of these words from Psalms 73:23-24: Nevertheless I am continually with thee; thou hast holden me by my right hand. Thou shalt guide me with thy counsel, and afterward receive me to glory.

The Rev. James Anderson, Sr. Award for Bivocational Ministry was established in 2013 as an annual award given to celebrate the contributions of a West Virginia Baptist Convention bivocational pastor who also exhibits the same love of serving Jesus Christ through the small church.

ClearView Fellowship Reaches Out to Community With Fall Festival

ClearView Fellowship (Greenbrier-Raleigh) - a six-year-old church start - made a conscious effort to give a gift to the community with no strings attached. ClearView hosted their annual Fall Festival at the West Virginia State Fairgrounds in Fairlea. For ClearView, this is not a church growth event. It is a gift to the community.

Hot dogs, barbecue, nachos, cookies, cotton candy, drinks, etc. were provided for anyone who came for the afternoon. There was a photo booth, free haircuts, music, blow-up games, magic, crafts, face painting and free toboggans and gloves for each child. HealthNet landed their helicopter for kids to see and the National Guard provided an obstacle course. The smiles on the children's faces made it all worthwhile.

ClearView Fellowship Pastor, Roger Adams offers the help of ClearView Fellowship to any West Virginia Baptist Convention church that would like to hold a similar event. For more information, contact Roger at 304.545.7263.

Eastern Association Churches Baptize Twelve in Joint Service

Several churches of the West Virginia Baptist Convention Eastern Association are rejoicing over 12 people who were baptized on Back-to-Church Sunday on September 20, 2015 at Romney First Baptist Church (Eastern).

During the morning worship service, Steve Wilson, pastor of Romney First Baptist Church was pleased to baptize four candidates, including the church's new youth director, Jake Tighe and his wife, Emily.

Later that same afternoon, Tony Baker, pastor of Little Capon Baptist Church (Eastern) and the congregation arrived to baptize four additional candidates, including a 93-years young lady. There was much rejoicing.

Still later that day, the congregation of Bethel Baptist Church (Eastern) brought four candidates of their own to be immersed. John Vetter, pastor of Bethel Baptist Church became "John the Baptizer," and all who were present felt the blessing of the Lord. In all, 12 candidates were baptized, ranging in age from nine to 93. God is at work among His churches and all the glory goes to Him.

Parchment Valley Conference Center: Awesome Gifts and Answered Prayers

We are so blessed to have Parchment Valley Conference Center, a wonderful retreat facility that allows us to pour the Lord's blessings out to many different guests who spend quality time here with us.

Recently, we welcomed Teresa Miller, my wife, to Parchment Valley Conference Center as the assistant director of Operations. Her knowledge of business operations in conjunction with her attitude of servanthood definitely complements our mission.

Parchment Valley Conference Center offers opportunities for conferences, camps and programs at a very affordable rate. If you are a member of a West Virginia Baptist Convention church, your cost is significantly cheaper than our non-convention church rate.

Our Bow Hunters' event was a success this past fall with Dale Mason and Brian Sweeney at the helm. Dale shared the need for others to join the Don Loudermilk Society, which helps with operational needs at Parchment Valley Conference Center. Dale signed up and challenged other hunters to do the same.

The administrative volunteers sent 400 letters to our West Virginia Baptist Convention churches identifying the maintenance needs of Parchment Valley Conference Center and asking for support. Praise God as we are now receiving support from churches who are first-time givers to this ministry! It is through your mission dollars and hard work that we celebrate 60 youth making first-time decisions of salvation this summer.

Our American Baptist Men's Work Party enabled us to install a French drain system around the Santrock Educational Building. The fellowship and skilled work was a tremendous blessing.

The American Baptist Women's Ministries have raised $12,000 for a Parchment Valley Conference Center truck.

Parchment Valley Conference Center fall 2015

Through special project gifts, we recently added a new projector system in Hill Hall, and are working toward upgrading the Matherly Room for our Palmer Seminary students with new wall mounted flat screens.

We at Parchment Valley Conference Center thank the Lord and His people for these awesome gifts and the many answered prayers we have experienced.

2016 Church Officers' Training Event February 6 at Parchment Valley Conference Center

God has given His people a great legacy of spiritual growth. He desires for us to continue this legacy by continuing to learn and grow in the faith. Paul told Timothy to "study to show yourself approved." With this thought in mind, the West Virginia Baptist Convention staff have planned the annual Church Officers' Training Event for Saturday, February 6, 2016 at Parchment Valley Conference Center.

New classes are being offered this year as well as old favorites. There is also opportunity for School of Christian Studies ADVANCED credit for those who desire it (please see the bottom of this page).
